The Use of Homeopathic Products in Aesthetic Mesotherapy

by Luc Dewandre, M.D.

Introduction and General Points

Mesotherapy is a medical technique that allows bringing the treatment spot near the pathology spot, and thanks to superficial intradermic delivery, to get the minimum dose of medicine that will solve the pathology, enhance the efficacy and reduce side effects.

This great therapeutic technique of delivery has found many applications in the field of aesthetic medicine. It can help reshaping the body by melting fat and reducing cellulite and can help rejuvenate the skin by a direct and efficient feeding of the skin with specific anti-ageing components.

Homeopathy is a revolutionary therapeutic approach based on the hypothesis of the similarity (a small dose of a drug is used to treat the symptoms that the drug can produce in huge quantities). Homeopathic drugs contain traces of the molecules that enter in its composition. So after D3 (third Hahnemanian dilution, as per its inventor), remains only the molecular memory of the particular compound.

Homeopathic preparations are used in mesotherapy for body reshaping everywhere it is needed.

One of the main interests of using HOMEOPATHIC mesotherapy products is that it allows one to use ORGAN EXTRACTS PRODUCTS from—for instance Thyroid, surrenals etc. WITHOUT any risks or side effects.

Using Homeopathic products in Mesotherapy also eliminates the trauma related the use of traditional allopathic compounds (bruising, burning, swelling). It represents a less aggressive approach to mesotherapy, as it works differently on the body than the allopathic approach.

Compared to an allopathic treatment, it usually takes up to 1-2 more weeks to see results, as the body needs to adjust to the homeopathic treatment, however long term results are comparable, therefore making the case for the use of homeopathy in aesthetic mesotherapy.
Homeopathic Mesotherapy For Cellulite Reduction.

The incriminating factors in cellulite outbreak are numerous: endocrine, genetic, enzymatic, dietetic, toxic, vascular, etc.

MESOCCELULITIS is a homeopathic preparation containing various components useful for specific and combined indications:

MESOCCELULITIS is a unique product working on many etiopathogenic factors of the cellulite, with a specific effect on the microcirculation disorders which are at the origin of that particular problem.
Homeopathic Mesotherapy for Fat Reduction

Use homeopathic MESOBESITAS when it is required to increase the lipolysis.
It is composed of:

Graphites   D 10,  D 30,  D 200
Levotyrocin  D 12
Fucus Vesiculosus    D 6
Adenosin – 5’- triphosphat dinatrium salz (ATP)    D 8
3’, 5’- Adenosinmono – Hydrogenphosphat (AMP c)    D 6
Acid 3, 5, 3’- Triyodotiroacetic   D 6,  D 8.

At the general level MESOBESITAS acts on the tendency of the organism to store fat.
At the peripheral level, it acts on the intra adipocitarian lipolytic enzymatic reactions, sustaining the energy-consuming systems, increasing the production of lipolytic enzymes and favoring the activation of AMP cycle, stimulating its synthesis and inhibiting its degradating enzymes, the phosphodiesterasites.

MESOBESITAS is designed to treat obesity for all its shapes and appearances (general, localized, of ginoid or android dependence,…) as well as for the most common dylipemias that go along with obesity: Hypercolesterolemy, Hypertrigliceridemy, Hyperlipidemy etc.
The graph hereunder shows the different roles of the components of MESOBESITAS:
Homeopathic Mesotherapy for Flaccidity

In the case of flaccidity added to cellulite and/or localized obesity, there is another homeopathic product called MESOBELLY that can be perfectly combined with the other 2 products. It contains all the intermediary substances of the “Cycle of Krebs” as stimulants and activates the enzymatic corresponding functions at the mitochondrial level. In addition, it stimulates the development of the striated muscular tissue (músculus suis), it reverses the ageing process (testis suis), it promotes cellular revitalization and reverses muscular dystrophy (embryo suis), it corrects lesions of the connective tissue, adinamy (funículus umbilicalis suis) & it regulates suprarenal glands and muscular exhaustion (glándula suprarrenalis suis).

MESOBELLY is very useful for the treatment of men and women’s abdominal wall sagging or lack of tonicity.
It stimulates the muscles and helps reshape the belly.

As with all homeopathic products, overdosing will never cause adverse reactions. It does not present contraindications or undesirable side effects. It is compatible with any other drug and is not doping positive.

MESOBELLY is composed of:

Dose and frequency:

Mesobesitas, Mesocellulits & Mesobelly can be used on their own or combined together for their own homeopathic properties in a soft and progressive approach of cellulite, localized fat excess and abdominal flaccidity. In that case the protocol consist of using 5 to 10 vials per session (depending of the size of the area to be treated). Sessions have to take place every week for the first 4 weeks & every other week for the following month, doubling the quantities. (8 weeks total treatment). Then perform a maintenance treatment every 2 to 4 weeks for a period of 3 to 6 months.

It can also be used as adjunct and diluant substances in case of more aggressive protocols using allopathic substances for fat melting and fibrinolytic action. (PhosphatidylCholine, Collagenase and Hyaluronidase).
